DAVE BILBROUGH

WORSHIP AND THE PRESENCE OF GOD (book by Dave Bilbrough)

Christian Marketplace - January 2008

Review by Steven Gibson

At first glance, the book seemed too big for the contents. However, reading was an absolute pleasure and I was constantly drawn closer to God. Dave Bilbrough has been leading worship for decades, and has composed songs that have become a staple part of church worship globally. He knows how to lead worship, and this book demonstrates that his skill is not limited to mere singing. This is the third in a series of books that summarise his beliefs concerning true worship in everyday life. Okay, perhaps he could have expanded a little on several of his stories, and maybe he should have spelt out the implications of his writing more clearly in a summary at the end of the book, but perhaps he was simply allowing God to meet us as we worshipped Him through the reading of this book, after all, that is exactly how he loves leading worship! A journey that is different for every reader.
